

(4/4) – Resolutamente: 85–105

Letra: Daniel Ben Judah Dayyam (Século XV), paráfrase de Thomas Olivers, 1724–1799

Música: Melodia hebráica

The left staff consists of 12 horizontal lines. A vertical line is drawn at the 5th line from the bottom. A small black square is positioned above the 5th line. The notation consists of black dots placed at various intersections of the grid lines, representing a melodic line. The dots are distributed across the staff, with some appearing on the same line and others on adjacent lines, indicating pitch and rhythm.

The right staff consists of 12 horizontal lines. A vertical line is drawn at the 5th line from the bottom. A small black square is positioned above the 5th line. The notation consists of black dots placed at various intersections of the grid lines, representing a melodic line. The dots are distributed across the staff, with some appearing on the same line and others on adjacent lines, indicating pitch and rhythm.