The right side of the page contains an empty musical staff, identical in structure to the left staff, with ten systems of five lines each. It is currently blank, with no notes or markings.
