The left staff of musical notation is a 10-staff system. It begins with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The music is written in a rhythmic notation style where notes are represented by dots on a grid. The melody starts on a B-flat in the first measure and moves through various intervals, including a descending line in the second measure. The notation is sparse, with many empty spaces on the grid, indicating rests or specific rhythmic values. The piece concludes with a final note on a B-flat in the tenth measure.

The right staff of musical notation is a 10-staff system, identical in layout to the left staff. It is currently empty, providing a space for a second part of the music, such as a bass line or a second voice part.
