

Letra: Charles Wesley, 1707–1788

Música: Anon., Lyra Davidica, 1708

The left staff contains a musical score for a single instrument. It consists of 12 systems, each with a five-line staff. The music is written in a simplified notation where vertical grey bars represent stems and black dots represent note heads. The notes are placed on the lines and spaces of the staff, with some notes appearing in pairs on the same line or space. The overall structure is that of a single melodic line.

The right staff contains a musical score for a single instrument, mirroring the format of the left staff. It consists of 12 systems, each with a five-line staff. The notation uses vertical grey bars for stems and black dots for note heads. The notes are distributed across the staff lines and spaces, with some notes appearing in pairs. The structure is that of a single melodic line.
