Letra: Cyrus H. Wheelock, 1813–1894

Música: Thomas H. Bayly, 1797–1839, adapted

The left staff of musical notation consists of 15 horizontal lines. It contains a series of black dots representing musical notes. The notes are arranged in a pattern that suggests a melody, with some notes appearing in pairs or groups on the same line. The notes are distributed across the staff, with a higher concentration in the middle and lower sections.
